TENUTA DEL BARCO

Marina di Pulsano – PUGLIA Region

Location

Soft sandy coves and turquoise sea, between dives and happy hours, the fishing village of Savelletri is all to be discovered, even in the company of your four-legged friends.

We let ourselves be conquered by the beaches of Savelletri, the small fishing village that stands in the center of a rocky coastal stretch where soft sandy coves open every now and then.

A handful of kilometers from the green hills of the Selva di Fasano, in the Itria Valley, free beaches bathed by the turquoise sea alternate with luxurious resorts and exotic beach clubs where DJs kick off happy hour. It is here that there is a lido with a beach dedicated to dogs, the only example of this stretch of Puglia.

The clear sea, which boasts the 4 Sails of Legambiente and the Blue Flag, is characterized by sandy and sloping bottoms that in some places give way to low and jagged rocks. The beaches are easily accessible by car while the Forcatella area is dedicated to the parking of campers.

After visiting the characteristic fishing port, let yourself be tempted by the unique taste of freshly caught sea urchins.
